

CALL TO WORSHIP!

It is Sunday NIGHT

It will be Monday morning before we know it.
 Why spoil the day of rest by bringing that up? →

Because you can also spoil ^{the holy day} by working it.
 We still have time for it to work its magic.
 We still have time for an encounter with God.

Invocation.

O Lord - it says in your word
 that you chase us - not that we chase you.
 We are not very good chasers -
~~and chase away~~

O Lord it says in your word that the light that enlightens every man has come into the world.

We are not ~~very~~ bright - so shut
 away.

O Lord it says it is with your word that life has to do.

We have not been doing so well
 lately so ~~spreads~~ away

SUNDAY JAN 11 1976 Second Sunday in Epiphany

Title - The Eye of The Storm

I keep ^{very} ~~focused~~ ^{focused} with the season of Epiphany: -

always was hidden
then of found in it the last man

It seems to me There is enough hidden in the Season of Epiphany to keep us observing the calendar that holds us to that season this time of year.

One of the many restorations of interest in the season came the other day when one of our staff
said:

"Epiphany has always meant a great deal to me after reading James Joyce's Portrait of the Artist
as a young Man - while at University."
