FIRST UNITED CHURCH - BROADCAST

SUNDAY NOV 11 1979

BEFORE WHOM IS NO ONE HIDDEN

The thing I find most useful about using Lecterns to provide a combination of scriptural lessons for the regular worship of God.

is what comes from many of the particular combinations. So often it is the unity of the readings in both old & new - that presents a new insight in the kind of comment they make on each other or the kind of light they throw on each other

One of the lecterns in common use in the Continent suggested the Hebrew & Mark readings for each Sunday. They struck me with such evidence that I decided to use them this Sunday.

The Greek Reading is that well known passage from Hebrews that speaks of the Word of God shining like a sun - light of life separately and each kind of light

So penetrating -
Bare from the heart
Before Him - no creature is hidden.
all are open to the eyes of Him who will when we have to do.

I find that this elegant language GOD? What is it before whom we are can hide.

- before whom all are open
- Him will when all are to do

Make it all up
