I. INTRODUCTION

Sex workers and allies across Canada are currently mobilized with public and advocacy campaigns that include postcards and letter writing campaigns, phone calls and meetings with MPs, demonstrations, social media campaigns and other ways to influence and encourage prostitution law reform. In addition to the education we need to do with the public and with ourselves along the way, there are two “most important” moments where we can infiltrate and be a part of the legislative process: The Justice Committee of the House of Commons and the Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee in the Senate.

To be most effective in influencing this process and making our perspectives known to the committee, we need to understand this process. Whether or not we shift the actual law, we can ensure that our perspectives are documented in the process, both parliamentary and media.

The proposed bill C36 -- Protection of Communities and Exploited Persons Act -- can be found here:

<http://www.parl.gc.ca/HousePublications/Publication.aspx?Language=E&Mode=I&DocId=6646338>

2. HOW A BILL BECOMES LAW

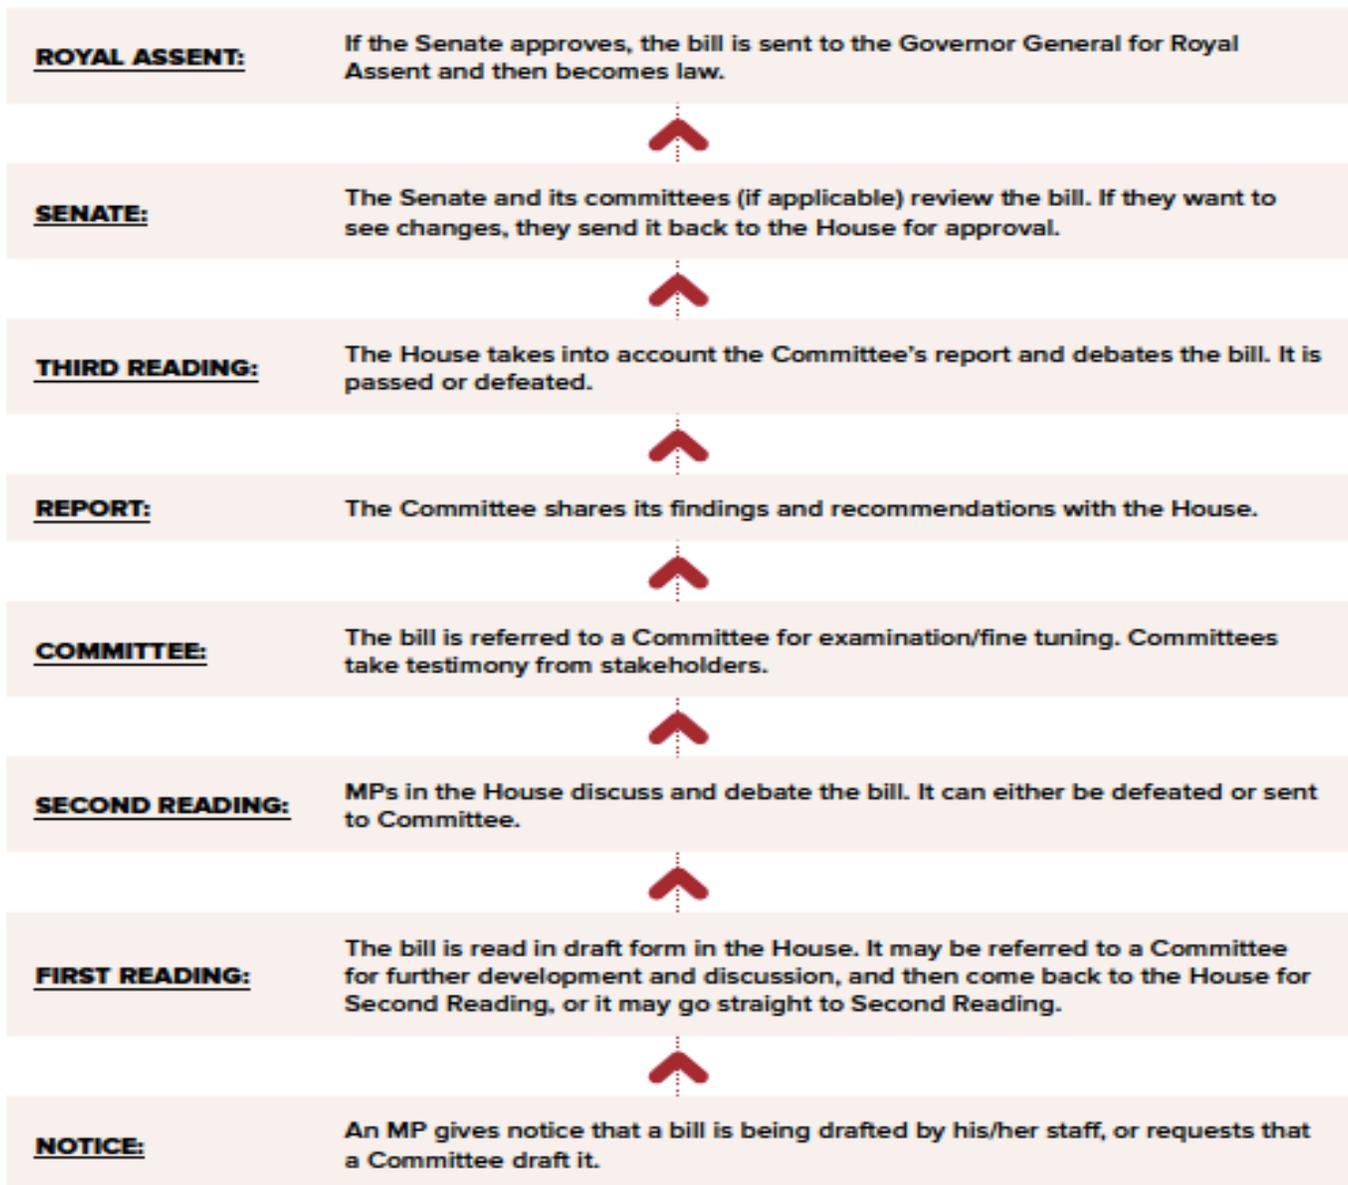

Understanding how a bill becomes a law gives us insight on what moments in the process we can have influence on laws that most affect our lives. To be a part of this formal process you can either a) appear as a witness to the Committee or b) submit a brief to the Committee.

A reminder around how laws in Canada are made:

In the Federal and Provincial governments, bills are introduced in draft form. They are then debated and rewritten with input from the House and its committees, the Senate and its committees. Once they have reached a final version, the Governor General signs it into law. In the Provincial government, a bill goes through a similar process but the Lieutenant Governor gives final approval.

Each party relies on its experts (Ministers and Critics, and Committee members) to guide their position. These are the influential people to target with your message so that it reaches into the government while decisions are being made.

This is the legislative process in detail:

TIMELINE FOR BILL C36

FIRST READING: On June 4th, 2014, the Conservative Government submitted their Bill entitled: Protection of Communities and Exploited Persons Act. For a transcript of this government discussion:
<http://www.parl.gc.ca/HousePublications/Publication.aspx?Language=E&Mode=1&DocId=6646338&Col=1&File=4>

SECOND READING: On June 12th, 2014, the Government re-reads and debated the bill in the House of Commons. For a transcript of this government debate:
<http://www.parl.gc.ca/HousePublications/Publication.aspx?Language=E&Mode=I&Parl=41&Ses=2&DocId=6672449>

COMMITTEE: During the week of July 7th, 2014 the House of Commons Committee called the Justice and Human Rights Committee ("Justice Committee") will hear from witnesses. See below: Recommending Witnesses to Appear Before the Justice Committee

3. MOVING THROUGH THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

As described above: between the 2nd and 3rd reading of a bill, the bill is typically referred to a committee in the House of Commons. The House of Commons has various committees, depending on the subject. For issues concerning crime and human rights, the issue is sent to the Justice Committee. This is where you can either appear as a witness or submit a brief to the committee.

Requests to be a witness and to submit a brief to the Justice Committee should be addressed to the Chair, Vice-Chairs and the Clerk of the Committee and/or any MP on the Committee who you think may be open to inviting you. Invitations will come directly from MPs.

This is where ongoing advocacy throughout the year is really important so that you can get to know members of parliament and they can come to see you as experts on a particular issue.

B) RECOMMENDING WITNESSES TO APPEAR BEFORE THE JUSTICE COMMITTEE

Individuals and groups can put forward a list of recommendations for witnesses to the committee. This needs to be done before the committee is struck. Members of Parliament will recommend witnesses to appear before the committee.

When recommending witnesses for a committee you should include:

- A short bio of the person or organization
- You can attach publications to your recommendations for witnesses though there is no guarantee they will be read by the committee
- Explanation of what this expert brings to the discussion
- Contact information for the potential witness

Witnesses: <http://www.parl.gc.ca/About/House/WitnessesGuides/guide-witness-e.htm>

c) SUBMITTING BRIEFS TO BE READ BY THE JUSTICE COMMITTEE

Groups and individuals can submit briefs to the Justice Committee – even if you are not presenting at the committee itself!

When submitting a brief to the committee:

- Ensure it is between 5-10 pages – briefings will be translated for all committee members to read
- To increase impact, the brief should speak directly the provisions of the legislation – the likely impact and effect of whatever they have proposed based on the best available research and evidence, whether from the Canadian context or an application of international findings
- In the (quite likely) event that you find the implications of the legislation to be negative, you can then give the committee an idea of the kinds of provisions or amendments that would be preferable
- Never offer piecemeal improvements in the event that you are calling for the bill to be scrapped. Make arguments about likely harms and suggest a wholly alternative approach (decriminalization?)
- The CCJA has examples of briefs that may be useful: www.ccja-acjp.ca
- Submissions can be from individuals or groups – but committee members may stop reading if the submissions are the same or from the same perspective so it may be worthwhile to join us and write briefs together
- Briefs can be submitted while the committee is in hearings but it is ideal to get your brief to the committee before it begins, as it should be read before the committee votes at the end of their hearings.

4. MOVING THROUGH THE SENATE

If you miss your chance to submit something or be a witness to the House of Commons Committee, all is not lost! There is the Senate process as well where we can intervene!

The Senate process is similar to the House of Commons Process. This means it also has a moment where the public can request to appear before the committee and can submit briefs to the committee. The Senate has its own committees. Bill C36 – Protection of Communities and Exploited Persons Act – will likely be heard before the Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee. Most of this information pertains to all committees.

This means you can propose witnesses and submit briefs to the Senate as well!

This link will give you information about Senate Committees in general:
<http://www.parl.gc.ca/SenCommitteeBusiness/AboutCommittees.aspx?parl=41&ses=2&Language=E>

Requests to be a witness and to submit a brief to the Senate Committee should be addressed to the Chair and Deputy Chair of the Committee and/or any senator who you think may be open to inviting you. Invitations will come directly from Senators.

This is where ongoing advocacy is really important so that you can get to know members of parliament and they can come to see you as experts on a particular issue.

a) MEMBERS AND CONTACT INFO FOR THE LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

To recommend witnesses or submit briefs you should also contact the Chair of the Committee, the Vice-Chairs of the Committee and the Clerk. You can also contact other members of the Committee.

This is a guide to participating in a Senate Committee Study: Giving Oral and/or Written Evidence:

5. Q&A ABOUT APPEARING AS A WITNESS AND SUBMITTING A BRIEF TO COMMITTEES

a. Does the committee accept embargoed documents as a brief? If so, how does the committee treat embargoed documents?

Meetings are public so documents that are not public will be hard to submit. If the meetings happen “in camera” then submitting documents not meant for the public will be no problem.

b. What is the deadline to recommend witness and submit briefs to Committees?

It is recommended that you submit your brief as soon as possible. You can submit your brief even after the process has started, but it is suggested to get it in as soon as possible since the committee votes at the end of their process – length of which we still do not know. It is recommended that you submit before the committee begins to leave time for translation in either French or English.

c. How many witnesses will be called to the Justice Committee?

This information has not been made public yet.
